Its population of nearly 3.1 million is made up of 32 ethnic communities. The capital of Sabah is Kota Kinabalu. It is the gateway to eco-adventures such as diving, river cruising, mountain climbing, white-water rafting and caving.

Over 5,000 types of flowering plants including 1,200 species of orchids, 26 species of rhododendrons, over 80 species of fig trees as well as 60 species of oak and chestnut trees are found here. About 100 species of mammals and 326 species of birds are also known to reside in the sprawling park.

Steep walls form a stunning backdrop while pelagic species such as sharks and turtles swim gracefully.

Further away, the Turtle Cavern contains skeletons of turtles that were lost in the tunnels. At Barracuda Point, divers can have exciting encounters with schools of barracuda. To preserve the delicate ecosystem, accommodation is only provided at the neighbouring islands of Mabul and Kapalai. Tours must be pre-arranged. The nearest airport to Sipadan is Tawau. From Tawau, take an hour's drive to Semporna before proceeding with a 40-minute speedboat ride to the island.

Sipadan was made famous by Jacques Yves Cousteau, a famous French oceanographer in his documentary 'The Ghosts of the Sea Turtle'.

Mabul is slightly larger than Sipadan and has several resorts as well as a local village.

Kapalai is another great location for muck-lovers. In fact, this little island is rated by many diving journalists as one of the best macro-diving destinations in the world. Mandarin Valley, Gurnard Ground and Stingray City are enchanting sites with a prolific marine life.

GETTING THERE

By Air

Sabah is well-connected domestically and internationally. The main gateway to Sabah is the Kota Kinabalu International Airport (KKIA) situated about 20 minutes away from the city. Malaysia Airlines, AirAsia and Malindo Air provides daily direct flights to Sabah from Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia's capital city.

Internationally, Sabah is accessible from Brunei Darussalam, China, Hong Kong, Taipei, Japan, Thailand, Philippines, Singapore and South Korea. The flights that operate here include Silk Air, Royal Brunei Airlines, Korean Air, Dragonair and Asiana. Visitors from Australia can also arrive in Sabah via Kuala Lumpur.

Sabah has a second airport called the Low Cost Carrier Terminal or Terminal Two. This terminal is situated about 7km from Kota Kinabalu International Airport. The budget carrier AirAsia operates from this terminal.

By Sea

Visitors from Labuan, Indonesia and Philippines can arrive in Sabah by sea. Ferry terminals and immigration checkpoints are situated at Kota Kinabalu, Sandakan and Tawau.

The Suter Harbour Marina in Kota Kinabalu welcomes foreign guests who wish to berth their yachts in comfort and convenience. Vessels are required to do port clearance before their crew is allowed ashore.

By Land

Overland travel between Kota Kinabalu, Kuching and Brunei Darussalam is possible via the Trans Borneo Highway. However, visitors are advised to be prepared for long journeys. Those who are intending to self-drive should plan their routes and rest stops.

Getting Around

Local buses and taxis are easily available in Kota Kinabalu although tour operators normally arrange most of the overland transfers. The local train service that connects Tanjung Aru to Beaufort and Tenom is a refreshing alternative to enjoy the scenery.

A good network of rural air service connects Kota Kinabalu to the gateway towns of Sandakan, Tawau and Lahad Datu. The smaller towns of Kudat and Semporna are equipped with airstrips.

In some places, visitors can watch pottery-making. Bamboo mats are another popular item. These mats come in various sizes and are a great idea to enhance your home decor. Some shops even offer packing and delivery arrangements for a fee.

Dining

Diverse, tasty and exotic! Sarawak's traditional delights are simply superb for those who are adventurous enough to give it a go. Coastal areas such as Damai and Santubong offer a variety of seafood dishes.

The state is also a leading producer of pepper and pineapples. In the cool climate of Kelabit Highlands, the natives cultivate a special rice called Bario Rice. It is harvested by hand using age-old methods. The equally cool highlands of Ba'kelalan is gaining popularity for its crunchy apples. For decades, Sarawak has been exporting high quality swiftlet's nests.

Aside from the local food, visitors can enjoy Chinese, Japanese, Korean and Western food in Kuching. Major hotels around the state serve a variety of continental cuisine.

Sarawak's authentic dishes include:

Sarawak Laksa – this signature dish consists of noodles served with an aromatic, tangy soup.

Mee Kolok – Handmade yellow egg noodles are used to prepare this tasty dry dish. The noodles are tossed with lard, garlic oil and black vinegar to give it the special flavour and taste. Muslim stalls offer a halal or pork-free version of this dish.

Bubur Pedas – Literally meaning 'spicy porridge', this dish is made with condiments such as yam, bamboo shoots and wild ferns. It is popular during the Muslim fasting month.

Manok Pansoh – A specialty of the Dayak ethnic group, this dish is made of chicken and ginger. It is cooked in a bamboo log over an open fire to seal in the aroma and flavour.

Sarawak Layer Cake – Pretty and colourful, the Sarawak layer cake has a mosaic-like look. They are usually homemade and taste simply delicious with a cup of coffee.

Ikan Terubok Masin – The salted terubok fish is popular in Sarawak. It tastes best when grilled.

Bird's Nest Soup – This highly prized Chinese delicacy is said to have medicinal properties. Try it at upmarket restaurants.

Sarawak Pepper – Bottled Sarawak pepper can be purchased at most departmental stores, supermarkets and mini markets. It is locally produced and fresh.

Sarikei Pineapple – Sarikei is known as 'the pineapple capital of Sarawak'. The variety grown here is juicy, and low in acid and sugar.

Other specialties of Sarawak include Umai, a raw fish salad and Tabaloi, a traditional sago cookie.

Getting There

By Air

Sarawak is well-connected to Kuala Lumpur (Malaysia's capital city) as well as several other international destinations. The main airport is the Kuching International Airport. There are a number of other airports and airstrips in Sarawak, situated in Miri, Bintulu and Sibul. Malaysia Airlines, the national carrier, provides daily direct flights from Kuala Lumpur to Kuching with connecting flights to other towns. The flight from Kuala Lumpur to Kuching takes about 1 hour and 45 minutes. Direct flights are also available from Kuala Lumpur to Sibul, Miri and Bintulu.

In addition, the budget carrier AirAsia operates flights to Miri, Bintulu, Kuching and Sibul from KLIA2. The Syariah-compliant Rayani Air also flies to Kuching from KLIA2. Malindo Air flies daily from KLIA.

Sarawak is also accessible by air from the neighbouring state of Sabah, and Labuan as well as Singapore, Indonesia and Hong Kong. The airlines that provide air links to Sarawak include Silk Air, Hong Kong Airlines (HKG - KCH route) and Xpress Air for the Jogjakarta – Kuching via Pontianak route.

By Sea

There are regular ferry services to Sarawak from Labuan and Brunei Darussalam. The staging points are situated in Limbang and Lawas.

The largest memorial in Malaysia, Labuan World War II Memorial is the final resting place of 3,908 war heroes from Australia, Britain, India, New Zealand as well as Malaya. It is visited regularly by war veterans and families. Every year, an elaborate ceremony called Remembrance Day is conducted in full military tradition to honour the warriors.

*Remembrance Day is held on 11 November or the Sunday closest to it, to honour the soldiers who lost their lives during World War II and those

WATER VILLAGES

A trip to Labuan would be incomplete without visiting the water villages. The main villages are Kampung Patau-patau 1 and Patau-patau II. These homes are built on stilts above the water and can be quite big. Most homes have airy, cooling verandahs that are decorated with potted plants and flowers. The villages are established by Malay fishermen and traders from Brunei.

Labuan's water villages are among the last remaining traditional water villages in the country.

THE CHIMNEY Tanjung Kubong

Commonly associated with Labuan, the Chimney is somewhat of a mystery. The 106-feet high structure was made from 23,000 pieces of red bricks imported from England. It was originally thought to be a ventilation stack. Recently, it was discovered that there are no traces of smoke within, thus making its purpose and existence a puzzle. The Chimney is situated at the Chimney Historical Complex. The Information Centre here details the coal mining industry in Tanjung Kubong since 1847.

Opening hours: 8.30am – 5.00pm
Tel: 087 463 603

Labuan is a winner of the Green Apple Awards 2013 (Archeological Heritage Category), which entitles Labuan as the Green World Ambassador 2014.

PEACE PARK Kampung Layang-layangan

Set in a beautifully landscaped area, this park serves as a memorial and a renunciation of war. It features a large raised mound with two prominent arched walls, gazebos as well as Japanese inspired bridges and ponds. Labuan was under the Japanese occupation for four years before surrendering to the Allied Forces. The Peace Park is a symbol of peace and harmony.

SURRENDER POINT Kampung Layang-layangan

Situated just beside the Peace Park, this spot has a great historical significance. At this very place on 10 September 1945, the 37th Japanese Southern Army surrendered to the 9th Division Australian Imperial Forces, which marked the end of World War II in Borneo. The Surrender Point overlooks the South China Sea.

During the Japanese occupation, Labuan was known as Maidashima or Maida Island. It was named after General Maida, the Chief Commander of the Japanese forces in Borneo.

LABUAN BOTANICAL GARDENS Jalan OKK Abdullah

This scenic recreational park features a hibiscus garden and an herb garden. It has a man-made lake with an arched bridge for visitors to stroll and take in the lovely view. Sir Hugh Low, the British Chief Secretary of Labuan at the time, is credited for the creation of the garden. Many interesting tales are associated with this garden and the Government House that once stood here.

BEACHES

Sun-kissed beaches and picture-postcard views are a beautiful facet of Labuan's attractions. The beaches of Layang-layangan, Pancur Hitam and Pohon Batu are famed for their warm waters and scenic views.

- Enjoy cycling by the beach
- Have a picnic
- Savour the variety of local food at the stalls
- Join team-building activities
- Sit back and watch the sunset

A number of beaches in Labuan have received the COBSEA Clean Beach Award, a recognition given by the United Nations Environment Programme.

KINA BENUWA WETLAND & MANGROVE FOREST

Stretching over 97,604 hectares, the Kina Benuwa Wetland is a pristine mangrove forest located on the lower Kina Benuwa river. It occupies the southern end of Labuan. This is a conservation area dedicated to the protection of the fragile eco-system and its rich biodiversity.

LABUAN MUSEUM Jalan Dewan

Housed in a pre-war colonial styled building, this museum chronicles the history of Labuan, beginning from World War II, to the British colonial days, to its declaration as a federal territory. Other interesting displays include Labuan's socio-cultural landscape and information about the local communities.

LAYANG-LAYANG ISLAND

Layang-layang Island or 'Swallow's Reef' lies about 300km north of Labuan. The seabed surrounding the rim of this oceanic atoll drops 2,000mm, making it a great location to spot large marine life such as hammerhead sharks, white tip reef sharks, manta rays, turtles, big eye trevally and barracudas. The atoll is also a resting colony for migratory birds. Due to its distance from Labuan, Layang-layang Island is more accessible from Sabah, the neighbouring state. Flights by MASWings leave Kota Kinabalu daily at 6.30am and the journey takes about 1 hour and 20 minutes. The 3-Star Layang Layang Island Resort is the only accommodation on the island. For further information, please visit www.avillionlayanglayang.com

Layang-layang Island is hailed as the 'Big Fish' and 'Wall Diving Mecca of Southeast Asia'. It is one of the top ten diving destinations in the world.

Local Information

- Visitors will have to produce their passports upon arrival in Sabah, Sarawak and Labuan.
- The East Malaysia region is made up of an assemblage of ethnic groups. The ethnic groups in Sabah and Sarawak differ greatly in terms of language, religion, traditions and costumes. There are about 30 ethnic groups in Sabah and five major ethnic groups in Sarawak.
- Although the people practice age-old traditions and rituals, their way of life is similar to people in other countries. Adults go to work and children go off to schools. Visitors can rest assured that legendary headhunters and fearsome tribes are a thing of the past.
- For safety reasons, visitors who are climbing Mount Kinabalu must always ensure that they are with their groups and guides. Do not wander away from the group as the misty weather conditions can mislead your sense of direction.
- There are many protected national parks in Sabah and Sarawak. Visitors are advised to take note of the strict laws that govern these areas. Take nothing but photographs and leave nothing but footprints. A national park conservation fee will be imposed upon entry.
- Fishing is not allowed at certain areas. Always check beforehand. The usage of explosives to fish is strictly prohibited.
- When taking a taxi, it is always best to determine the rate beforehand.
- The weather is generally warm with occasional torrential showers. Cotton clothes, rubber shoes and sun hats are the best. The temperature can drop considerably at hilly places such as Mount Kinabalu in Sabah or Bario Highlands in Sarawak. Discuss the appropriate clothing with your guide.

Some social tips

- Be respectful when you are at public ceremonies.
- Shoes must always be removed when visiting homes or places of worship such as mosques and temples.
- During a longhouse visit in Sarawak or a village tour in Sabah, visitors are advised to dress modestly and follow local customs.
- The headman of the longhouse or village is an important figure in society. Visitors should treat him with respect.
- Rice wine may be served during longhouse/village visits. It would be polite to accept.
- When sitting on the floor, men sit cross-legged while women normally sit with their legs tucked to the side.
- When pointing, it is preferable to use the thumb, with the four fingers folded under, rather than the forefinger.
- To give or receive something, try to use the right hand.
- Always ask for permission before taking photographs when you are in someone's home.
- Some places such as Mount Kinabalu are considered sacred by the locals, especially the older generation. Do not shout or use foul language when trekking up the mountain.
